EXTRA WORK ASK

Your most reliable person is overloaded. Someone asks you to add more.

If you say yes too fast, you make their workload your team’s normal.

Protecting capacity

SOUNDS LIKE THIS	NOT THIS
“She’s at capacity right now.”	“She can probably squeeze it in.”
“If this is the priority, tell me what should move.”	“Can you just help this once?”
“I want to protect the work she already owns.”	“She’s our go-to, so give it to her.”

Steady

SWIPE →

Backing your team means saying no before they have to.

Do not make your best person carry everyone else’s poor planning.